The number of evangelical workers who have been engaged to attend and assist in carrying on the good work is unprecedented, both in number, ability without change. The demand of the Builders' Exchange that the carpenters unprecedent of, both in number, ability and prominence. Among those whose services have been promised are Rev. R. G. Stewart, of Cleveland, Tenn., who has been a co-worker with Sam Jones; Rev. Mr. Swindell, of Philadelphia, Rev. George W. Oliver, of Wellsville, Ohio, a preacher who is said to possess much power in times of revival; Dr. Heff, of Salt Lake City; Lewis Albert Banks, of Boston, and Rev. J. L. Hurlbut, of New York. In addition to these an effort will be made to secure the attendance of and fair contractors as for themselves, and produce good arguments to prove it. Yesterday afternoon a meeting of Local Union No. 3, Carpenters' Brotherhood, was held, at which a proposition was received through two union carpenters, from Wilson & Co. and from Beltz, Flading & Co. The proposition was in effect that these two items would, in consideration of certain concessions on the part of the Carpenters' Union, do all in their power to have the other members of the Builders' Exchange make certain concessions. What these will be made to secure the attendance of the presiding Bishop for this section, whoever he may be. It will not be known till after the meeting of the Bishops in May who will be assigned to Bishops in May was this section.

There promises to be be a big demand for cottages this year, and already the work of building and remodeling has been commenced. Mr. Millard Geissy is building a very pretty cottage and Mr. George Miller has commenced the work George Miller has commenced the work make certain concessions. What these gentlemen want, and what they will try to induce the Exchange to concede, the members of the Union who discussed it to induce the Exchange to concede, the members of the Union who discussed it would not make public. It was decided, however, according to the statement made by a well' known carpenter, that such a proposition carries no force with it, and that if these firms have any influence with the Exchange they should exert it there first, and send a proposition that would hold water, if agreed to. The meeting reported to have been held on Theseaday, was not held, so the members of the Brotherhood who keep up with the time say.

Building has not been entirely stopped by the strike, and quite a number of contractors who do not belong to the Exchange are working on new buildings. It was reported ty esterday that one of the officers of the Exchange had notified the owner of a new house creeking at Seventeenth and Woods efreeten of remodeling his place. AMUSEMENTS.

To-night, at the Opera House, there will be presented that musical farce comedy, "Natural Gas," which Henry V. Donnelly and Eddie Girard, two exceedingly elever comedians, have made famous, and which has done much in the way of adding to their fame. It is full of rollicking fun and the novel and amusing features are numerous. The New York Times, referring to a recent performance of "Natural Gas" in that city, says: "Mr. Girard was as nimble, easy, graceful and tortuous as ever in his salitatorial and acrobatic endeavors, and Mr. Donnelly once more won the sympathy of his auditors by his courage-ous and laborious efforts to be funny. The two stars worked harmoniously together, and their specialities, separately and combined, were heartily encored. They sang some new songs and have otherwise improved the entertainment by various changes."

Next Saturday afternoon and evening "Karl" Gardner, the jolly German comedian and sweet singer, will present at the Opera House his new picturesque comedy of home life in the Tyrol province entitled "Fatherland." It is said to be a novel, interesting and musically ineritorious production. The plot is the simple story of a Tyrolean guide saving the life of an American widow's child, and afterward protecting them from the yillainous designs of the widow's brother-the life of an American widow's child, and afterward protecting them from the villainous designs of the widow's brother-in-law; and of course culminating with his marrying the widow. The plot enhances the merits of the performance, which consists of a strict delineation of local character, contunes and customs. The central feature is Karl Gardner as Herman Leopold, the guide, who is given an opportunity to sing, which he does with great success, and to dance, which he does most gracefully. In that che-with great success, and to dance, which he does with great success, and to dance, which he does most gracefully. In that characteristic German combination of natural and falsetto voice, Gardner sings several pretty songs. The most pleasing is "The Lillac," and its perfume is wafted through the entire play.

There were two fair-sized audiences at the Grand yesterday afternoon and last the Grand yesterday afternoon and last; evenings to, enjoy the performances of Rentfrow's "Jolly, l'athfuders." A Novel Entertainment.

"The King's Daughters," an organization of ladies connected with the First Presbyterian church, are busy arranging for a novel entertainment, which promises to be a very enjoyable one, for the benefit of the new City Hospital fund. It is to take the form of a reception and bag sale, and is to be held on Thursday afternoon and evening, April 10, from 3 to 10 o'clock. Durst, the confectioner, has kindly offered the use of his parlors on Market street for the holding of this affair, and Prof. Killmyer has been equally kind and generous in offering to furnish the music on that occasion. Bags of all kinds and shapes, constructed for every canceivable purpose, ornamental and otherwise, will be offered for sale. For the past month the ladles of "The King's Daughters" and others whom they have interested in the matter, have been busy making these bags and the result of their labors promises te be an astonishing one.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, had taste, cracked turning and traven.

Distress some of the more con After symptoms. Dyspepsia does

Eating not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympa Headache thetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind. "I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat Heart distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would expensive the properties of a faintness, or itred, all-gone feeling, nere a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hord's Sarsa Stomach rilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appettle, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." Georg a Paur, Watertown, Mass.

n every town and village within a radius of 100 miles of our stores can testify to ne superiority of our goods. They have walled themselves of our liberal offer to $10 and upwards. Our method of doing business don't suit the old fogy merchant, who is not satisfied unless he makes 100 per cent, and is content to drivel along from year to year, ever complaining about dull trade and how the ungrateful people send off to distant towns, where live merchants are, to get towns, where live merchants are, to get their goods. We have no sympathy for such hum drum merchants. Our pluck, energy, cash money, quick sales, stand-ard goods and low prices have placed us in front, a position for which we are eminently flited and will maintain.
